

Assumptions Made:

- Maintenance would need an entity for the employee assigned for maintenance.
- There can be many apartments in different buildings, but there must be apartments associated with buildings.
- One employee can have many dependents, but it is not required, however dependents require an employee.